

Casemet is a family-owned company whose own products include steel enclosure solutions. In addition, our offering includes contract manufacturing: electromechanical and sheet metal structures.

Our operations are based on customer-oriented and flexible service, high-quality and reliable manufacturing, a high level of product finishing, and delivery reliability. Customer satisfaction is a matter of honor for us. Casemet respects international human rights, is committed to ethical principles, and responsibility is a core part of our operations.

The management of Casemet is responsible for the operation and development of the quality, environmental, and occupational safety systems in accordance with the current strategy. Management ensures that adequate conditions have been created for quality, environmental responsibility, and occupational safety, and that everyone is aware of the related objectives and practices.

Casemet is committed to ensuring a safe and responsible working environment by actively identifying and eliminating work-related hazards and by reducing occupational health and safety risks through proactive and systematic measures. We utilize risk assessments and safety observations as part of our continuous improvement efforts.

Each Casemet employee is responsible for the quality of their work and is obligated to follow the principles and guidelines related to quality, environmental, and occupational health and safety practices, as well as to report any identified risks, misconduct, or unethical behavior.

We encourage our personnel to participate in development efforts and foster a culture of experimentation. Our improvement activities are based on listening to our customers, employees, and stakeholders, strengthening competence continuously, and applying Lean leadership principles.

We are a workplace where everyone follows the same rules. We promote equality at all levels of the organization, ensuring that all employees have equal opportunities to grow and succeed. We provide training and encourage professional development.

We comply with laws, regulatory requirements, and other binding obligations in all our operations. We continuously develop our operations to improve competitiveness, quality, and to minimize emissions and energy consumption.

Casemet Oy monitors its supply chain through audits and ensures that all statutory obligations are fulfilled. In the selection of suppliers, meeting predefined criteria is required, and the selected suppliers must commit to complying with the Casemet's Code of Conduct.

We protect the data we handle (e.g., customer, company, product, personal data) from potential threats with effective information security and privacy measures. We regularly review and update our information security practices. We comply with data protection laws to ensure the best possible protection for our operations and stakeholders.
